Catzilla is an app that tests your computer's performance and helps you compare how well other computers performed on the same test by age, type, and other features. The software is easy to use and is designed to help you increase the performance of your PC. Catzilla - Standard Edition - easy setup and use, recommendations, and archiving and comparing historical results. 8.34 How to archive and compare historical results and test your pc? This free app, created by Keith Machens, transforms your PC's performance into a set of digital files which can be easily compared. It works like a standard test, using only one test at a time, so your original tests results won't be overridden. This app's default tests use the most sophisticated tests, like dxdiag, DxDiag, Timing Tests, and others. You can easily switch between tests. In addition to the tests, your computer's performance is transformed into digital results which you can easily access and compare. Just click the File menu and select Archive tests. That's all. For your privacy, results are stored in a secure place on your PC. Features : Custom Tests, Recommendations, Archiving & Comparing Historical Results. 8.34 The most powerful test is the Platform Test, which uses the Windows Isolation Technology to measure the speed of a computer platform. You can: 1- Limit the speed of one Windows component (CPU, Memory, Disk, Network, Sound Card, etc.) to find the part of the system that has the lowest speed. 2- Test the maximum performance of the platform by using 3 or more

I created a Java project. Inside my project I have a java API, the java source code compiles without errors but the android implementation is not working. I have a class called PackageInfo with some get/set methods. I call the getter methods from within the main activity class. This worked when I put some simple objects into the class. Now I added my object alias called "setKeywords" in the class. The problem is, i always get an "unknown filter" error. private void sendData(PackageInfo packageInfo) { getPackageManager().setComponentEnabledSetting(packageInfo.getPackageName(), PackageManager.COMPONENT_ENABLED_STATE_ENABLED, PackageManager.DONT_KILL_APP); try { getPackageManager().setComponentEnabledSetting(packageInfo.getPackageName(), PackageManager.COMPONENT_ENABLED_STATE_ENABLED, PackageManager.DONT_KILL_APP); } catch (Exception e) { e.printStackTrace(); Log.e("AGORA 3da54e8ca3
