Welcome to Mars. In 2050 the funding for space exploration ran out. Out of ideas, NASA postponed its manned Mars mission for 30 years. Meanwhile, the Martian atmosphere started to thicken, the volcanoes stabilized, and the weather cooled. The green plains turned into dry and dusty deserts, and the water in the rivers turned into glacial ice. The ancient canals connecting the volcanoes finally froze, and the poles started to take over in the late 21st century. In 2020, NASA blew up its Mars mission, sealing an atmosphere into the planet and abandoned it for good. While everything went into reverse, the first unofficial expedition set up shop on Mars. Earth and Mars switched place, and you're the first human on Mars. The game is completely free of microtransactions. I know how to do this if each data.frame is a separate dataset, but I cannot subset the data.frames in the list (list) because it is not a dataset! Here's what I have tried so far: dat How much data could a single server handle? A report published on Monday claims "the current limit is around 2 terabytes per second of data".
